From Joe Daly to Everyone: 12:20 PM

We split the requirement into a Placement log and a reflective piece.

From GeorginaLawlor to Everyone: 12:20 PM

Yes, but part of a wider assessment criteria.

From Jean.OShea to Everyone: 12:20 PM

using statements as part of a journal such as complete:

From Bridget Kirwan to Everyone: 12:20 PM

We are and it is a challenge to mark, we have created a rubric to mark reflecting Jennifers development over the cases. We do mid placement call backs to facilitate a revisit to what we have provided at the beginning.

From Catherine Murphy to Everyone: 12:21 PM

if people were happy to share rubrics with me on Catherine.murphy@cit.ie that would be great and I am happy to share back to with group if that's ok with you

From Geraldine O'Neill to Everyone: 12:21 PM

Working with many staff who have used it. Many used student peers to support its development and did some formative assessment using criteria such as Jenny mentioned or Hatton and Smith's Levels

From Susan Funcheon to Everyone: 12:22 PM

We do a Recall day mid placement and go through assessment again in detail then to include reflective journal

From MariaJose Gonzalez to Everyone: 12:22 PM

From debbie long to Everyone: 12:23 PM

I give quite a lot of guided questions to assist their practising of writing journals

From MariaJose Gonzalez to Everyone: 12:23 PM

Another article that may be of use <https://arrow.tudublin.ie/ltcassess/3/>

From Marian.Quinn to Everyone: 12:24 PM

We start in Y1 where the students engage in reflective discussions in small groups before progressing on to reflective writing. This is well embedded before the students go on placement

From marsee Bermingham to Everyone: 12:25 PM

like that Marian

From Mary Cooney to Everyone: 12:25 PM

I start with writing exercises before they go on placement and lots of in-class experiential exercises.

From Ted to Everyone: 12:25 PM

Students will tend not to complete journals unless they are being assessed. Assessing journals is not feasible given the like volume of material involved. I have swayed away from journals and towards focused reflection tasks. I still request that students keep a journal to inform their assignments. Sometimes, I wonder whether they write what they think that I want them to say....not an easy fix!!

From MariaJose Gonzalez to Everyone: 12:28 PM

Thank you very much Jenni and the team at Cork Inst. of Technology. I am sorry I have to leave now. I will catch up with the rest of the session when we receive the recording.

From Mary Cooney to Everyone: 12:29 PM

I use this method in the description evidence of re-reading their weekly journals.

From Joan Murphy to Everyone: 12:32 PM

We use Gibbs cycle to structure the reflections throughout our programme.
